COMMUNICATED. ALLEGIANCE-BY J. B. JOHNSON.

A State is a body politic, having a representative Legislature, which it instructs to make laws to define its scope, declare its object, and promulgate its duty. In proclaiming its condiwho form its contract. It is this essential that | purity and fineness in the market. generates its sovereignty; and it is amenable to no power but that which established it, and cannot be altered, abridged or amended, save by the inherent, internal and independent sentiment that sustains it. This is the basis of its power, and the sum of its right. The reciprocity which exists between a State and its citizens, is so obvious, that neither the State nor as for immediate powerful effect upon land, it the citizens can break or impair it, without do- has no equal. ing violence to the relations which the one bears to the other; for the prosperity of every civilized community, rests upon the alternating foundation of mutual obligations and benefits; and, were it not for this understanding, mankind would never resolve themselves into different political bodies, but prefer their original state of nature, as much more conducive to an enjoyment of their interest and pleasure. Hence, the highest civilization is that which imposes upon the people of a State, the necessity of observing, in a most positive manner, their own organic laws, and the greatest intelligence is that which inculcates the wisdom of non-interference with the local or internal affairs of the States of neighbors. A citizen may strive by all honorable means of reason to amend the order of his State, but it is always jealous of his allegiance, and permits no partnership or partition of that allegiance, with any external influence that threatens an interference with either the purity of its laws, or the integrity of its territory, and he cannot give aid and comfort to the presumptive interference of external brute force with the domestic or internal concerns of his community, without detriment to it, and dishonor to himself, for by so doing, he turns against his State, and thereby becomes what its laws designate, a traitor.

The science of bodies politic is rational; and any deviation from its fixed and established rules is as remarkable as a variance from the rules of other human sciences. It is this science in the entation of a State that I deviate the science of the in the creation of a State that defines the allegiance of those who bring it into being; and the citizen, who, in obedience to the laws of his of the most celebrated State, defends its interest and dignity against FRENCH AND AMERICAN MANUFACthe forcible interference of external power, is ceasing admonitions of his whole being; for there is an economy in all human associations makes him confidentin giving satisfaction to all which assumes the potent bearing of an instinct | that may favor him with their patronage. that involuntarily despises a treachery, evoked and developed by circumstances which should call into action nought but constancy and devotion, and invariably refuses to recognize as worthy of public confidence, that unfaithfulness which reveals its baseness in a desertion of duty to the first and noblest offices of political or social existence. Patriotism readily appreciates the distinction; and the sentinels of history employ poetry's blandest strains to weave into measured stories the deeds of those whose acts were the defence of their State's need; but they speak in words of sarcastic bitterness of the character of him who betrayed his natal land when an outward foe essayed to bereave it

DISTEMPER IN CATTLE. - Mr. Frank G. Ruffin in the August number of the Southern Planter and Farmer, says that having heard that many milch cows are dying in and around Richmond of distemper, (properly speaking red water or really bilious fever) he thinks it proper to make public a remedy he has succesfully used and a preventive he has employed to his perfect satisfaction for the last twelve years. Mr. Ruffin says:

The remedy is sugar or molasses, either you choose; the sugar as a bolus, the molasses as a drench—a pint of sugar or a gallon of molasses, and the dose repeated at intervals until the animal is relieved or dies. After she is relieved, a tea spoonful of calomel may be Which I will sell at Boston prices, from the used. During the war I cured a case with a vessel. Fish warranted prime. ORGANIC WEAKNESS Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This distressing affection, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of impropriety.— Young persons are too apt to commit ex-cesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The System becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Consumption, Decay and Death

DR. JOHNSON, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospit-als of London, Paris, Philadelpnia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and soli-tary habits, which ruin both body and mind unfitting them for either business, study, socie These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz. Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory. Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evi Forebodings, Averson to Society, Self Distrust,

Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced: Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, Cough, and Symptoms of Consumption. YOUNG MEN,

Who have injured themselves by a cer tain practice, indulged in, a habit fre quently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and, if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body. should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prespects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contem-MARRIAGE, effect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own. DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE. When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those, who from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, necturnal pains in the head and limbs dimness of sight, dearness, nodes on the shin-bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity till at last the palate of the mouth or the genes of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commissera-tion, till death puts a period to his dreadful suf ferings, by sending him to "that Undiscovered Country from whence no traveller returns."

It is a MELANCHOLY FACT that thou sands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskilfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that DEADLY POISON, MP R-CURY, ruin the constitution and make the residue of life miserable. DR. JOHNSON, Office, No. 7, South Frederick Street,
